

Generally, we need increased sharing among civilized states of intelligence on terrorist plans, the whereabouts of known suspected terrorists, and information on the behavior and methods of responsible groups. Let me assure you that the United States is doing this on an intensive basis.